Minden OPP office now a satellite

by Andrew Milne

The OPP plans to reduce its Minden office to a satellite of the Coboconk detachment.

Any layoffs associated with the move will be announced early next week.

Office staff members awaiting the layoffs described themselves last week as anxious and distressed.

According to Regional Commander, Bill Hutton, the 'sub-detachment' will be located in a building adjacent to the Minden MNR office. The decision to relocate was made following a visit to that site last week.

The station's office staff will in all likelihood be reduced in the move.

Hutton says the OPP might consider moving administration back into the Minden area, should a building large enough become available.

"We just don't think that [the size of the building] gives us the luxury of having three office staff working in there as well," Hutton said.

The detachment will not lose any police officers in the downsizing — apart from a staff sergeant already removed from his position. The Minden officers currently report to Coboconk staff sergeant Andy Millar, who spends half his week at the Minden location.

Any office staff layoffs will be announced June 11.

The plans are that the sub-detachment will also no longer have a public phone line, though OPP officials say they may attempt to arrange that the current phone number ring through to Coboconk.

When the move will take place is not yet final. OPP officials say they are waiting for the computer systems to be in place, something that's supposed to be done this July.

The lease on the current building, which has expired, has been extended to next summer.

Office staff members contacted last week were anxious about the future. As of Friday afternoon, they were still waiting to hear officially whether the detachment really was being reduced. They did know, however, that there might be layoffs. Office employees were sent earlier this year to a semi-

Hospitals transferred

Sister Hilda Maloney of the Sisters of St. Joseph Hospital in Peterborough signs documents officially transferring the ownership of Haliburton and Minden hospitals to the Haliburton Highlands Health Services Board, Chairman of the local board, Paul Heffer, centre and executive director Foster Loucks were part of the ceremony which took place on Friday.

by Andrew Milne

At approximately 5:30 p.m., May 31, it was official.

The ownership of the Minden and Haliburton hospitals was transferred to the local health services board.

Sister Hilda Maloney, of the Sisters of St. Joseph, signed the deeds over to the Haliburton Highlands Health Services Corporation in a brief ceremony held at the PineStone Inn.

Board members of the HHHS present, described the event as something of a milestone.

Said chairman Paul Heffer, "With this signing today, we are assuming responsibility for a critical component of our health care system. It is but the first step in the transition that needs to take place."

Heffer, with others, thanked St. Joseph's for its commitment to health care in the county over the years since it assumed control of the Minden and Haliburton hospitals. Heffer also thanked the province and the county for their commitment to health care in the area.

Maloney spoke briefly on St. Joseph's experience with rural health care over the years of administering the

Knowledge of CPR saves man's life

Shawn Hagerman, Haliburton agent for Mutual Life, endorses a life insurance policy that even his own company doesn't sell.

The 'life insurance' is one that thousands have taken over the years, learning life saving techniques that they hope they will never have to use. But, like Shawn, these people are willing to be a part of the ever-increasing corps of individuals who know CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation).

Last week, the West Guilford resident was glad to know CPR. He was equally glad to have recently upgraded his certification.

Shawn was in Lindsay on business late Wednesday afternoon when he stopped at Pizza Hut for an early supper. Shortly after placing his order, a frantic member of the staff came rushing through the restaurant asking if there was a doctor among the patrons. Shawn identified himself as a person who was trained in CPR and she directed him to a 72 year old man, Lucien Plante, lying on the sidewalk outside the restaurant.

Victim's family says Shawn Hagerman is a hero

"He had been down for about two minutes and was obviously choking. His face was blue. I knew this was serious," Shawn recounted. The manager of the restaurant, Shannon Wilson, had come to the man's aid but asked for Shawn's assistance.

He immediately began to apply CPR, a series of chest compressions followed by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. The regimen is repeated until the patient revives or assistance arrives.

"I'm not really sure how long I was at it. It is difficult to get a fix on time under those circumstances," Shawn recalled. "I couldn't find a pulse, so I just kept following the CPR routine."

"After what seemed like five or six minutes, whatever was blocking the man's breathing cleared and I could see he was starting to breath on his own. The (blue) colour was draining from his face."

A short time later the ambulance arrived and the victim was quickly bundled onto the stretcher and whisked away to the hospital.

"It was over almost as quickly as it began," Shawn recalls. "One minute I'm ordering supper, moments later I'm out on the sidewalk attempting to save this man's life, and then just as suddenly, everything is over," fortunately with a happy ending for everyone.

After the excitement subsided, Shawn returned to the restaurant where supper was on the house. Later that evening, when Shawn visited Ross Memorial Hospital, he met the man whose life he had saved. "He was sitting up and talking; looking pretty

Ingoldsby dump burns

Minden fire fighters spent five hours bringing a fire at the Ingoldsby dump under control last Wednesday. It is believed that sparks from the fire pit set an old mattress ablaze. Anson, Hindon and Minden public works superintendent Clayton Cameron said "the fire spread very quickly across the face of the dump." Landfill site attendant Ed Burke called the fire department at about 6 p.m. on May 29. It was 11 p.m. before firefighters were able to leave the site. The next day, a bulldozer was brought in and the entire face of the dump was covered with sand. Cameron says the sand will prevent it from flaring up again, although it may smoulder for a week or more.

good," Shawn said. He learned that the man was a former resident of Tory Hill, who had just moved to Lindsay.

The victim's wife, Lucille, who was with him in front of the restaurant, was also at the hospital. "There were hugs all around," Shawn said. "And since then, various members of the family have called to express their appreciation."

Judy Lenart, daughter of the victim, described Shawn as a 'hero'. "Without Shawn's intervention my dad would have been dead, there is no doubt about that." Mrs. Lenart, of Oshawa, also had praise for the manager of the Pizza Hut, Shannon Wilson, who was the first to come to her father's aid. She noted that both Shawn and Shannon had recently completed their CPR upgrade.

"As a family, we are ever so thankful for the swift action. They gave us another year, two years or many more years with our precious, gentle soul," she said referring to her father.

They have spoken with Shawn a number of times since the incident, and the family plans to visit with him sometime soon. "He's a part of our family now," Judy concluded.

Looking back on the incident, Shawn said, "It was really a matter of fate. Normally I wouldn't be in Lindsay on a Wednesday evening. Luckily I was, and fortunately I happened to be close at hand when this emergency arose. I am glad to have been able to help."

Shawn said he was always aware of the importance of knowing CPR, but with this personal experience he is even more convinced of the value of the instruction. "It's something everyone should learn and keep up their certification. you never know when you're going to need it."

nar on coping with layoffs, and informed that they would hear by June 11.

Said one staff member, who asked not to be named, "Everything appears to be moving towards Coboconk, but they will not tell us that per se... It's just a lot of anxiety. At this point we don't know if we're going to get a pink slip. They told us we'll either get a letter saying you're in, a letter saying you're out, or a letter saying you're hanging there on the edge on the 11th of June. So we don't know whether we'll get pink slips or be told we're hanging there."

The detachment commander, said the same staff member, didn't know finally about the move the last time he was asked.

"It doesn't seem to matter who you talk to — nobody seems to know who's making that decision or when it's being made. Everyone passes the buck and says it's somebody else's decision to make. So there's a lot of feeling of anxiety and distress. We feel like mushrooms."

Lutterworth reeve Jim McMahon says he worries about the effect the move might have on the local economy.

Says McMahon, "It could be devastating. It would certainly hurt the economy if Coboconk is the admin centre. New officers brought into the area are certainly going to look to locate as close as possible to their reporting or administration headquarters. They certainly won't be looking at Minden — or Haliburton, as far as that goes — as a place to live."

McMahon says he also finds it surprising the OPP would locate two detachments in Victoria County, and none in Haliburton.

Hutton says however that the move won't greatly affect the way officers in the county do their job. With the move towards community policing, he says, and with community policing offices in villages around the county, officers will be making less use of the detachment in any case.

Says Hutton, "We have a nice location for a community policing office in Haliburton, and we have one in Dorset and we have one in Wilberforce... I want to head in that direction. There are three officers living in Haliburton. Why should they drive over to Minden every day to get a car to go back to Haliburton?"

Community policing, says Hutton, is working extremely well in some areas, and has a lot of potential to make communities safer.

One office staff member says the staff has been surprised by the apparent lack of community interest in the move.

"It would be nice to know that the public were rooting behind the detachment here... Losing the detachment in Haliburton County, it seems to me, is a pretty major issue."

Board assumes official control of hospitals

Haliburton and Minden facilities, and thanked those volunteers from the local communities who had participated on St. Joseph's board.

Said Maloney, "We came to a greater realization of the difficulties involved in managing small rural facilities, and we were enriched through the contributions of these trustees... While there is some evidence that it has not always been dancing in the light, it is our sincere hope and prayer that St. Joseph's has in some way been a midwife, and that you can now move forward — perhaps a little hesitantly at first — but growing again more confident in your ability to govern your own health care facility."

Also present for the meeting were MPP Chris Hodgson, who brought greetings from Minister of Health Jim Wilson, District Health Council chair Bill James, former chair of St. Joseph's board Mel Johnson, and Haliburton County Warden Murray Fearrey.

Hodgson informed the meeting that the province is still committed to the project — including the critical $10 million capital improvements planned, and praised the efforts of those who have participated in getting the project to this stage — including the county council, the district health council, the HHHS board, and St. Joseph's.

Said Hodgson, "I'm glad I can be part of this event. I think it's something the residents of this part of the province have waited for for a long time. I want to express my appreciation for the Sisters of St. Joseph's and executive director Frank Lussing for their work over the years and for their support."

A long road

The transfer of the hospitals to the local board is part of a lengthy process put into action by the Ministry of Health (MOH) more than 20 years ago now. Under the rubric of health care 'rationalization', the MOH directed that a local board be given control of local health care resources — specifically the hospitals and the county-owned Hyland Crest long term care facility. The MOH has also committed funding for over $10 million in capital projects towards upgrading those facilities.

It's been a long and winding road since then, aggravated by funding difficulties, regional tensions, occasional turnovers in provincial governments, and now two changes in ownership for the hospitals.

The Red Cross, which had established both hospitals — and the now-defunct Wilberforce hospital — divested itself of its outpost hospitals in the mid-1980s. The MOH facilitated 'marriages' with larger hospitals administering them. In the case of Haliburton and Minden, Peterborough's St. Joseph's Health Centre — owned by the Sisters of St. Joseph — became the parent hospital.

St. Joseph's ran the hospitals through a very difficult period for rural hospitals in general. Doctor shortages are endemic to rural Ontario, and Ontario's doctor's fee structure — a fee for service arrangement which can make for lean pickings for doctors working a night shift — has made keeping rural emergency wards open difficult in recent years. A package announced by the current provincial government to top up the salaries of those doctors was estimated by government officials to be of use to around 70 rural hospitals. Haliburton hospital — which was topping up its doctors' salaries, and running deficits to do so — was one of those.

It's of less — though some — use to the Minden facility. Minden currently has no local doctors available to work its wards — a result of an attrition not uncommon in small communities across the province, though somewhat more marked in Minden. The in-patient ward is closed, and expected to remain so for at least the immediate future, a move for which St. Joseph's naturally received some criticism. Under community pressure to keep the hospital open, St. Joseph's has been bringing in emergency physicians from outside the county, but the cost has been high, and has further aggravated the tiny facility's nagging deficit.

The process had also aggravated regional tensions. The MOH seems to have been pushing, at least until recently, for a single, amalgamated hospital in place of the two. Neither Minden — the smallest hospital in the province at nine beds — nor Haliburton, with one bed more, goes the argument, can be expected to be a viable institution on its own. Combined, they'd be more cost-effective.

The trouble is, where to put such an amalgamated institution. Communities do not readily give up their hospitals. Rural areas, with services that are generally less than up to date or sophisticated, can be particularly touchy. As Minden's medical community began to dissolve, concern for emergency care in particular grew, both in the immediate community HCHSS president Adele Barnes listens as OPP chief superintendant of central region, Bill Hutton, explains how police services will be better than ever, once the reorganization is complete.

OPP officials guest speakers at HCHSS Annual Meeting

Haliburton County Home Support Services (HCHSS) held its annual meeting on Tuesday, May 28, at Echo Hills Seniors Residence in Haliburton.

Following a favourable auditor's report, guest speaker Bill Hutton, chief superintendent of the Ontario Provincial Police Central Region, was introduced.

Hutton said that the restructuring of the OPP has resulted in more officers in the field. He said there are fewer senior officers and fewer administration personnel.

"We have 280 more constables than we had three years ago," Hutton said. "There are more uniforms and more marked cruisers on the road. Even the sergeants are spending more time on the road."

Also in the past three years, 600 police officers have retired. "We're replacing them as they retire," he added. "Forty-five officers were hired two weeks ago and another 50 will be hired in September."

Hutton said the OPP is getting away from renting offices as much as possible.

For example, he said: "The rental in Minden far exceeds the salary of a first-year constable."

Now that the Minden and Coboconk detachments of the OPP are under the command of one staff sergeant, Hutton said that the administration may move to one place or the other. But, he stressed, the police services won't be less in either place.

"Our officers are intelligent and well trained," Hutton said. "They don't need a place to go to be told what to do."

What it does mean is that more officers will be living in the communities they serve, he said.

"They will be involved in youth organizations and service clubs," Hutton said. "They will have more of a sense of belonging to the community."

Jerry Rome, second vice-president and treasurer of HCHSS, asked Hutton if the current level of 24 officers will be maintained in Minden.

Hutton replied that there will be more officers on general patrol. "I'll be putting people where I need them," he said.

Another concern was about the court facilities. If they are closed, it was pointed out that an officer attending court in Lindsay would be unable to be on duty in Haliburton County for most, if not all, of the day.

Hutton said, "We should know soon where we stand with regard to court. Officers are spending 60 per cent less time in court than they did in 1991. We're hoping to maintain front-line services."

Hutton said the OPP is looking into the possibility of having part-time officers who would fill in when the full-time officers are in court or on holidays.

Responding to a question about how long it takes an officer to respond to a call after 2 a.m., Hutton said that 24-hour service is now provided. At least one car with two officers is on duty after 2 a.m. In the past, officers were on call after 2 a.m. and they only responded when a call was received at central dispatch.

Hutton added that the hours an officer

Phone fraud warning

Senior constable Ron Buchanan of the Minden OPP detachment advised the audience to be alert for people being victimized by telephone fraud artists.

Buchanan said that the majority of the people who are being victimized are those who grew up in "more innocent times."

He said that the telephone con artists will tell their victims anything to try to gain their trust.

He said that he received a call from someone claiming to be from Statistics Canada on the Saturday evening of the Victoria Day long weekend, asking for personal information.

"Like anybody in the government is going to be working on the Saturday of a long weekend," he said, with more than a little sarcasm.

People, more often than not, are too embarrassed about being suckered in by a scam to report it to the police.

"Eighty per cent of the people who are scammed never report it to the police," he said.

Buchanan said the best way to deal with phone scam artists is to tell them somebody is at the door and to hold on until you answer the door.

"Leave the phone off the hook for 20 minutes," he said. "They are calling long distance and it's costing them money."

He said they will get the hint and take your name off the "sucker list."

Buchanan advised the people who are spending time with elderly people to ask if they have been getting calls telling them they have won some fabulous prize and all they have to do is send a few hundred dollars to claim that prize.

"The best way you can help is to spread the word," he said.

Buchanan also had some praise for the County's community policing volunteers. He said that attitudes are starting to change and he credits the community policing associations for helping to get more people interested in helping to protect everyone's property.

President's report

Government funding cuts continue to be a major concern to the organization. Strategic planning was delayed pending government and Long Term Care (LTC) decisions.

"We were finally notified that it would be business as usual for Home Support, with no cutbacks for our agency," president Adele Barnes reported. "This was extremely good news."

The Emergency Response System may not be so fortunate.

"We feel this is a very necessary service in Haliburton County as many people live alone and cannot do so without an ERS," Barnes said. "This is not a priority with LTC."

Barnes said she was pleased to accept an award on behalf of HCHSS from the Association for Community Living for HCHSS's ongoing support of the association.

Barnes thanked the Bank of Montreal, the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and the Toronto Dominion Bank for allowing the HCHSS display boards in the local branches.

She also thanked the board of directors, committee members, conveners and volunteers for their many hours of hard work and dedication in providing services in all kinds of weather, regardless of road conditions.

"It is impossible for HCHSS to carry out services without your continued assistance," she said. "Many people could not remain at home without the services we provide."

Barnes outlined some of the meetings, seminars and workshops she has attended on behalf of the HCHSS.

"This has been a very busy year as the need for services has increased," she said.

Executive director's report

Donna Pacey, executive director of HCHSS, reported that the development of a strategic plan started in 1984 and is continuing. A new plan got started in March of 1996, which will guide the organization through the next three years.

"We reviewed our mission and partially completed the strategic analysis and commenced listing our critical issues, with input from volunteers, clients, other agencies, government, interested persons and staff," she said.

"Besides the strategic plan, we also have in place a public relations strategy (developed by the executive committee) and a fund raising strategy (developed by the finance committee)," she added.

Pacey reported that a training program for volunteers was made possible by a Trillium grant from the Ontario Community Support Association. The grant provided funds for two short term jobs for the development of volunteer handbooks for each service provided by HCHSS as well as public education for all volunteers for the specific services they provide.

HCHSS services are provided under the auspices of Bill 173, which is an Act respecting long term care, and is therefore partially funded by the Ontario Ministry of Health. The core services provided by HCHSS include meal services (including Meals on Wheels and Wheels to Meals), friendly visiting, security reassurance checks, transportation, home maintenance and repairs. Non-core services provided include home help, emergency response system, and social recreational services.

Pacey said the non-core services are in jeopardy so HCHSS has requested the government to reclassify home help and emergency response services to core services in rural areas such as Haliburton County.

"Provincial task forces are presently reviewing these and other non-core services and will be making a decision in the near future," she reported.

Organizational policies have been updated and new ones developed over the past year.

"Last year, much time and energy was spent in my developing the agency's annual service plan, which was prepared as part of our budget submission for the board's recommendations, input and final decision," Pacey said. "However, the effort paid off as our service plan and budget was approved by the Ministry of Health in November."

Pacey maintains community relations by communicating with other related agencies, as well as local and provincial government officials. She is a frequent speaker about HCHSS at various functions and acts as a consultant and resource provider.

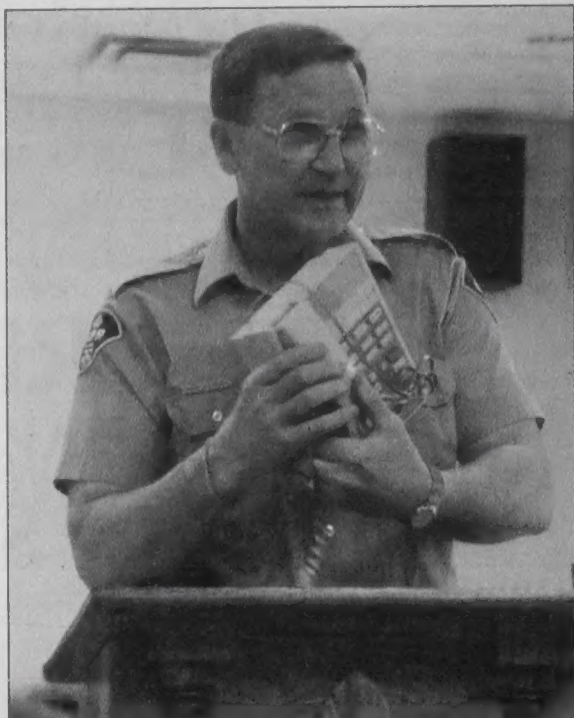

"Our team of registered volunteers, with specific skills, provides the front line work in the provision of services to clients," she said. "Our thanks to all who, in any way, have contributed to providing services to clients."

The purpose of HCHSS is to enable seniors (aged 55 and over) and/or physically challenged (aged 18 and over) persons to remain independent in their own homes for as long as possible. The goal also includes co-operating with others in the county to create an awareness of clients' needs and enhance the quality of their lives.

Election of officers

The election of officers for the HCHSS was held at the annual general meeting. The following slate of officers was elected:

President - Adele Barnes
Second vice-president/treasurer - Jerry Rome
Executive secretary - Jan McMaster
Past president - Helen Henderson

Senior constable Ron Buchanan uses a telephone to emphasize the fact that phone fraud is becoming a serious problem in Haliburton County.

One step at a time

The strong interest shown last week for the formation of a committee to help guide Minden's economic development can only bode well for the area. A group of 20 people, representing a cross-section of the community, quickly reached a consensus Thursday evening, that such a body is needed and that there is work for it to do. It was suggested that such a committee could help promote this area to new business interests, ensure the existence of a welcoming business climate for anyone inquiring about investing in the area, open channels of communication between various sectors of the community, promote tourism and in the end, help invigorate the economy and help resolve many of the social problems facing the community.

This area is little different from other small communities on Ontario. Buffeted by budget cuts, a struggling economy and gloomy forecasts, there seems to be little positive news on the horizon. However, upon reflection, those in attendance realized that the features which attracted them to the area: small town life; community involvement, a clean, safe environment, are assets which can and should be used to attract new investors. There is no doubt this area has a great deal to offer anyone interested in building or expanding a business.

Sure, overcoming the obstacles that loom on all sides may seem to be a daunting if not impossible task. However, one thing is certain, those barriers will not disappear by simply ignoring them, nor will governments at all levels be able to provide the financial support they have in the past. They can, however, be expected to respond to grass-roots community leadership that says, we're not about to allow the current situation to become the status quo. Governments may not have the financial resources that were once at their disposal, but they still have the ability to clear the way for a community on the grow.

The economic health of the community is closely tied to other factors that help to make it a pleasant place to live. The group that met last week, and which now extends an invitation to the community to join in this effort, has taken a firm step in a positive direction for Minden and the surrounding area. We hope the community realizes the importance of this opportunity and endorses it with its support, ideas and attendance.

Teachers concerned about amalgamation

The following is an open letter to Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson.

Editor:

I write to you again concerning the proposed amalgamation of school boards and in particular the suggestion that Haliburton and Victoria Counties be joined as one school board. The fact that the original proposal has been changed, and we are now looking at a smaller area, does not lessen the concern of the teachers.

As teachers and board employees, we have chosen to work for a small board, where we have the option and opportunity to know everyone and be an integral part of our education system. By amalgamating with Victoria County we will lose our autonomy and the opportunity to be as involved in the decision-making. People feel that they now have a voice, they know who is making the decisions and they are an extension of the Haliburton Board office. This system increases the chances of a productive working environment and when you have employees who feel involved, you create a better education system. I am sure you can appreciate their feelings and will not attribute this simply to people who cannot accept change. Change is a part of education and a teacher's daily life. Some change is not for the best and we feel that this amalgamation will leave us isolated. Other issues of concern are distances, debt load, programming, local needs, start-up costs and communication.

To suggest that significant funds will be saved by this amalgamation is questionable. It also appears, according to preliminary calculations, that the taxpayer in Haliburton County will have a significant tax increase--in the neighbourhood of seven percent.

Our teachers would appreciate hearing your views on this issue, as employees of the Board of Education and taxpayers of the county.

Christine Lynd,
President, Haliburton Women Teachers' Association.

Forest management: a cost or an investment?

Editor:

When I first read the article "12 positions chopped at Minden MNR" (May 13), I thought, "how pathetic"... it take 100 years, more or less, to grow a harvestable crop of trees. It takes many years as well to educate forest technicians and foresters, to develop the knowledge and expertise required to effectively tend, harvest and regenerate our forests crops, and to promote significant environmental benefits for society. As with any crop, unless all aspects of management are effectively addressed, it's probably better not to have bothered in the first place! Same thing with forest crops, and a myriad of the spin-off benefits. In other words, don't manage for 50 years, then "quit".

Yet, it seems that some people inevitably view forest management as a cost rather than an investment. That appears to explain current drastic government cuts in forest management and research staff.

Ironically, if most Ontarians were more concerned about performance of stocks or mutual funds than forests (and some are), financial "experts" would surely advise them to "hang in there...don't panic! Look ahead, for at least five, ten, maybe 20 years...over the long term, these investments will pay off."

Unfortunately, effective management of forests and forest ecosystems demands even more expertise than management of stocks or mutual funds. Yet such expertise has become a target of cut-backs. Like doctors and nurses in our health care system, forest technicians seem to be viewed as expendable. And like doctors and nurses they will leave, to the detriment of our community.

To the anonymous technician who, (in the article) said, "There is a lot of shame involved in losing your job", I say, you should not feel shame...because if there is shame, it is not yours.

To me, the saddest thought of all, relates to government suggestions that the private sector can take over, and "do more with less"... remind you of voice mail? It reminds me of a company forester whose succinct comment on long-term forestry commitments of the private sector was, "There is not a *#&@ mill in the country built to last a (crop) rotation!"

Meanwhile, levels of applied silviculture expertise continue to erode, while our capabilities to combat local forest fires improves. Priorities? While both are important, we may be reminded in time that "protecting" natural resources, is only one facet of a comprehensive management strategy, and, alone is not sufficient.

The next arrival of the caterpillar infestation (Gypsy moth?) in this county may serve well to remind us that forest losses to insect and disease factors have always greatly exceeded losses attributable to forest fires.

The complexities of natural resources management in future cannot be expected to diminish, due to a multitude of factors, including ozone layer depletion, drought, atmospheric pollution, and many other potential threats to forest health. It is reasonable then, if not imperative, that our forests be managed in a comprehensive manner, and as a long-term investment (not as a cost), by the only realistic long-term manager... government. This approach demands improved scientific forestry training, knowledge, experience and adequate personnel resources, not less.

If forest management continues to be considered as "a cost" rather than essential investment in our future environment and economy, we will all have to pay the price, eventually.

A sporting chance

Editor:

I would like to respond to comments made by Norm Jung in the May 6 article "OFAH representative outlines bear hunt concerns."

The Bear Alliance's campaign goal is simply to stop three unethical bear hunting methods: the spring hunt, baiting, and hunting with dogs. No more, no less.

The Bear Alliance's goals correspond with the opinion of many responsible hunters who believe in a principle known as "fair chase." These hunters consider it wrong to shoot bears in the spring, in a season when no other animal is hunted, when bears are weak and hungry after hibernation, and when mothers are nursing their cubs. These hunters believe there is no sport in luring hungry bears to baited sites, only to shoot them while their head is stuck down a barrel of donuts. They also maintain that to hunt bears using dogs equipped with radio tracking collars is a violation of the principle of fair chase.

Mr. Jung says hunters don't shoot sows. MNR stats show that 30 per cent of the bears killed in the spring are females. Bear biologists and wildlife rehabilitators state unequivocally that orphaned cubs are a legacy of the spring hunt, despite laws that try to prevent it. In the spring, mother bears do not always have their cubs present with them, leading to hunters unknowingly shooting a mother and leaving orphaned cubs to die. Furthermore, bear biologists agree there is no foolproof method of selectively identifying the sex or maternal status of a bear until after she is shot and her body is examined for signs of nursing.

Mr. Jung would do well to remember that hunting is referred to as a "sport" because it implies that the animal as well as the hunter is supposed to have a sporting chance.

The perils of prognostication

Have you ever noticed how the highly imperfect science of predicting the weather has degenerated into a free-fire game of shoot-the-messenger? It's bizarre. There was a time, not so very long ago, when we took the pastime of meteorological prognostication the way it should have been taken-- with a half pound of granulated Sifto salt. Somebody might say, "It looks like rain," or "I feel a dry spell coming on". Fifty per cent of the time the call would be right. The other half of the time we might get anything from a blizzard to monsoons. But that was okay. We knew that the weather was a capricious, headstrong filly capable of changing its mind from minute to minute. And even wrong guesses made for good conversation.

Not anymore. Now, right after the news, some perky little twerp comes on our TV screen and tells us that tomorrow's downtown high will be 16.5 degrees and we can expect clouds to move in at 1620 hours Greenwich Mean Time.

The geek with the pointer is usually smug and self-assured. He smirks while the anchor man says things like, "Well, Bill, what kind of weekend do you have lined up for us?"

What exactly is going on here? Why are we pretending that some schmo with a fistful of satellite printouts and a mess of Arctic flow charts has the lock on tomorrow's weather?

I've heard TV weatherguys say things like, "Well, it's going to be a fine weekend Frank. I can promise lots of sunshine..."

Whoa buddy. There is only one entity in this mix who can "promise" any kind of weather and he answers to the name of God. You, on the other hand, are a miniscule meteorologist. A messenger. An entrails reader. A coin flipper. When it comes to weather, you can guess and you can predict, but you cannot promise.

In fact, it is risky to do so. I watched a BBC newscast in London a few years ago, just after a bruising storm had swept across England, knocking down trees and washing out bridges--none of which had been predicted by the weatherman the day before. The host of the news turned to the weatherman and said something like, "Well, you made a right balls-up of yesterday's forecast, didn't you?"

Embarrassment is the least of the dangers courted by over-confident weather forecasters. Ask the weatherman who reads the charts for Channel 2 in

by Arthur Black

Haifa, Israel. He is currently facing a lawsuit from a disgruntled viewer who took his word for it when he called for a sunny day. In fact, a storm hit Haifa that day and the woman, who'd left work wearing a light summery dress would up catching the 'flu, missing four days of work and spending $52 on medications. She also suffered stress and undue misery because of the faulty forecast and would like $1400 in compensation for her tribulations.

It gets worse. Last year in Sicuani, Peru, a flash flood ripped through a town killing 17 unsuspecting residents. Sicuani has only one television station, and the weatherman, one Francisco Arias Olivera, had not mentioned anything about the impending flash flood on his weather report the day previous. He had predicted two inches of rain in the next 24 hours. The town of Sicuani received nineteen inches of rain in twelve hours.

Francisco Olivera had been an extremely popular TV personality--right up until the day of the flash flood.

On the day after the flash flood, outraged residents barged into Olivera's hacienda, dragged the meteorologist out to a nearby oleander tree--and lynched him on the spot.

"It was his job to warn us that the flood was coming," said one citizen, "but he failed to do his job. Many of us lost our homes, lost our loved ones, lost everything we had."

Senor Olivera lost a little more than that.

Francisco Olivera might be dabbling on make-up for his appearance on the Six O'clock Sicuani News Hour right now--if only he hadn't appeared so smugly certain of his prediction.

If there is any Canadian weather predictor reading this who has grown bored with Canadian weather patterns and wants to inject a little challenge and adventure into his or her professional life. I understand there is an opening for a TV meteorologist in Sicuani....

Committee will explore economic options for Minden

An economic development committee for Minden and the surrounding area could be created in the near future.

Following a meeting Thursday night, there appears to be strong interest in the formation of such a body. About 20 individuals, many representing the business community, attended the gathering at the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council chambers.

The meeting was organized by Linda Kernohan, who, with the co-operation of the municipal council, invited a number of individuals to attend to determine if there was support for such a body. As a result of the gathering, a second meeting has been scheduled for June 12 at the Minden Community Centre, where the group hopes to devise a structure and focus for the committee.

One of the first items to be clarified is whether this new body would act as a committee of the municipal council or as a separate body, providing advice and creating its own initiatives. It was explained that operating within the existing municipal structure can be helpful, by allowing access to municipal resources and authority. However, it was also pointed out that being a committee separate from the municipal structure would allow the committee flexibility that would not exist under the more formal structure.

The organizer, Linda Kernohan, is also a member of the Haliburton County Development Corporation's board of directors. She said she was prompted to organize the meeting because she felt there was a need in the community for an organized approach to attracting new business and helping retain those businesses which exist in the area. Earlier this year, the Development Corporation hosted a series of public meetings throughout the county to attempt to chart a future for the area. She told the meeting she was disappointed when only seven citizens attended the Minden meeting. "I felt something had to be done and rather than waiting for someone else to pick up the ball, I decided to call a meeting."

After several meetings with a number of individuals including a few members of council, she decided to hold a larger forum with a cross-section of the community in attendance to determine if there were others in the Minden area who shared her concern.

There was little doubt Thursday evening that a committee such as the one she envisioned was wanted by those in attendance. A number of speakers mentioned the need for an active group to promote Minden, to bring the local business community together and serve as a resource of information for individuals interested in investing in the community.

Reeve Jeanne Anthon, and all members of the council were in attendance. She said there was a strong interest on the part of the council for a more pro-active approach to economic development for the community. She noted that other concerns, such as restructuring and budget trimming had recently occupied the council's time. She said the council would be pleased to support any effort at economic development in the area.

Those in attendance discussed a number of issues with which they hoped this new committee would deal, such as community promotion, creating a climate conducive to economic development, tourism, and the creation of an industrial or commercial park.

Before the meeting closed, a committee was formed to create an agenda for the public meeting. The Chamber of Commerce has agreed to act as host for the meeting. Economic Development Co-ordinator, Bryan Brown, will be asked to facilitate the meeting, which will be held June 12 at the Community Centre beginning at 7:00 p.m. Anyone interested in economic development in the Minden area is welcome to attend.

Another opening

Scott's of Kinmount joins Knectel group

Shoppers in Kinmount will find a new, but familiar face on their main street starting this week. The popular Scott's Grocery store has become a Knectel Associate Store. According to the press release, "The change will bring to Kinmount a large array of weekly flyer specials, locked in prices and an aggressive merchandising program." Knectel, which has its headquarters in Kitchener has been expanding in Ontario and already includes 76 franchised grocery stores.

Guy Scott, owner of the Kinmount Food Market, considers the association with Knectel to be an opportunity to provide improved quality, value and price promotions for their customers.

"We are pleased to report that the shopping public will find that old friends and acquaintances can still be found among our staff," Scott commented. "Knectel is dedicated to competitive pricing, high quality in the fresh departments, good old fashioned service and is proud to offer the customers the Our Compliments, Knectel Brand and Smart Choice lines of private label products. We are confident that customers will find all the services to make their weekly visit to Scott's Knectel Food Market a 'one stop' shopping trip," he concluded.

MINOR BASEBALL

The 26 Minden Minor Baseball teams, T-ball to peeewee, play Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Catch the action!

Bantam Royals win two of three

After the opening game of the season was cancelled because the opposition failed to show, the Minden Royals bantam hardball team started the 1996 season in Sunderland on May 23.

The game was a hard fought battle, with the host squad edging the Royals 11-10.

Minden got off to a strong start, with Ryan Dawson hitting a three-run homer in the first inning.

Unfortunately for the Royals, in spite of the Sunderland pitchers issuing 15 walks, the Minden batters were unable to produce enough key hits to get a win.

Minden pitching, on a two-inning rotation, was handled by Colin Mackenzie (five hits, four walks and two strike-outs), Joshua Belcher (one hit, two walks and three strike-outs) and Cam Neville (two hits, two walks and one strike-out).

Michael Hamilton recorded two hits for the Royals, with Dawson, Aaron Gibbons, Belcher and Gord MacDougall picking up one hit each.

The first home game for the Royals was Sunday, May 26. It was a return match against Sunderland and this time it was the Royals chalking up the win, by an 8-6 margin.

Minden sluggers recorded nine hits over seven innings in another closely fought match.

Dawson, Gibbons, Neville, MacDougall, Belcher and Rob Solomon

contributed one hit apiece for the Royals, with Aidan McKnight picking up two hits. Nick Kulas was the power hitter of the day, slamming a home run in the fifth inning.

Pitching was shared between Gibbons (three hits and four strike-outs), Hamilton (two hits, three walks and four strike-outs), Paul Daniels (two hits and one strike-out) and Neville (one hit and two strike-outs).

The Royals picked up their second win on May 27 with an 8-7 road win against Fenelon Falls.

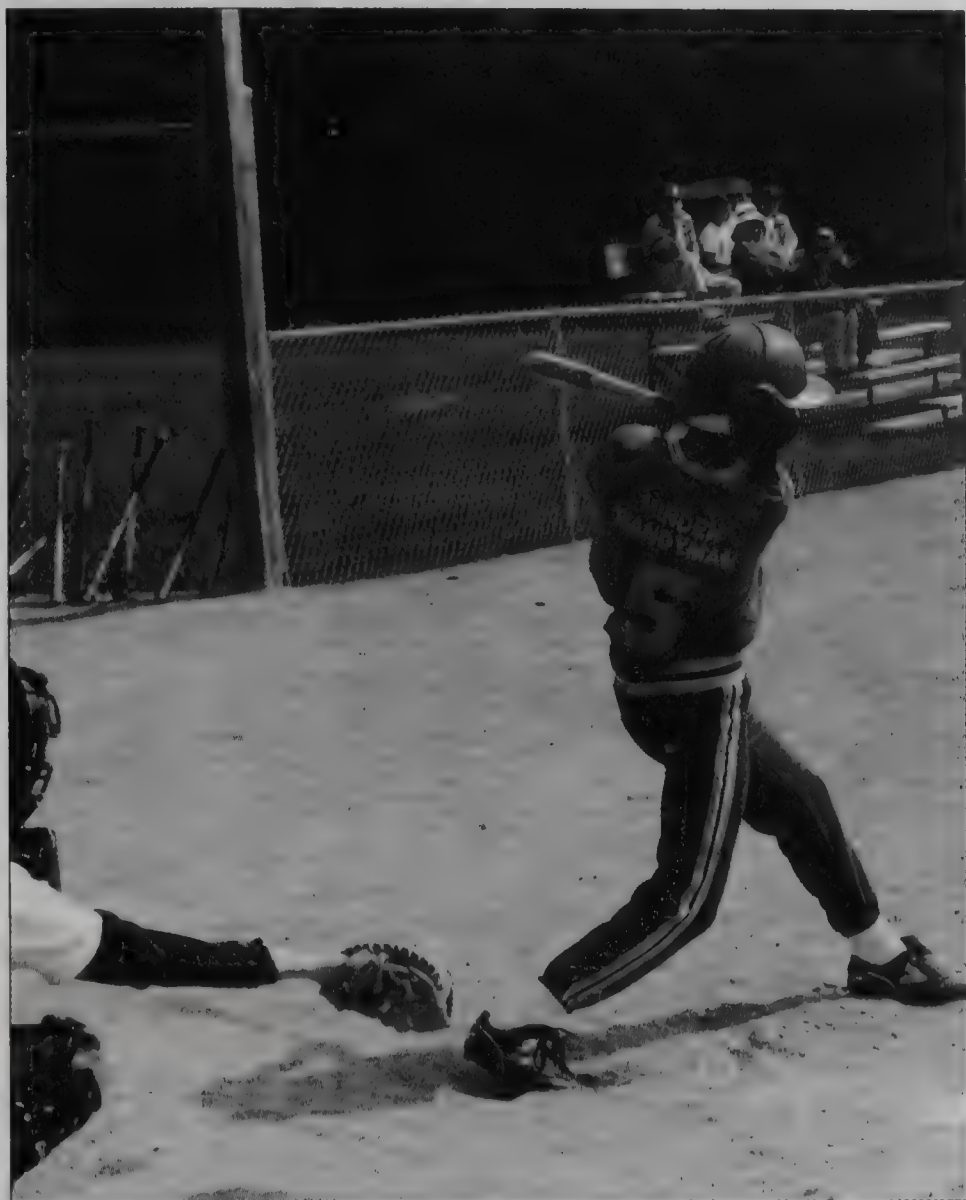

This was another evenly matched contest with the Minden team actually being out-hit 9-7 by Fenelon Falls. The game's final out was on a strike-out with the tying run at third base.

Belcher (two hits, two walks and three strike-outs), Neville (two hits, two walks and two strike-outs) and Colin Mackenzie handled the pitching chores for Minden.

Offensively, MacDougall and Gibbons led the Royals with two hits apiece, while Hamilton, Mackenzie and Dawson had one hit each.

Although not included in the offensive stats, Sean Martin, Steve Newell and Andrew Graham have contributed strong defensive efforts.

"The team has played quite well so far, continues to work hard in practice and is looking forward to a competitive season," said coach Andy Mackenzie.

SOLID HIT: Rebounding from an 11-10 loss in their first game of the season, the Minden bantam Royals won their next two in a row. The bantams, as well as the midjets play their home games Sundays, starting at 10:30 a.m.

Kinmount Youth Dart League wraps up another season

The Kinmount Youth Dart League KYDL enjoyed a very successful 30-week fall/winter season from September 1995 to April 1996.

The Kinmount Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 441, was presented with a plaque of special thanks from the KYDL for supporting local youth with its donation of the use of the Legion hall and dart boards. The use of the hall was also donated for the KYDL banquet and for a few dances, which were held throughout the season.

The KYDL operates on a drop-in basis. Teams are drawn each week, with prizes and trophies awarded on an individual level.

Costs to participants have been kept to a nominal $1 per night. All proceeds go toward prizes, trophies and the annual banquet.

Weekly prizes are usually a large bottle of pop and a bag of chips or a slice of pizza and pop. They are awarded for high scores in the different categories. A door prize is also awarded each week.

Because the fall/winter league runs for 30 weeks, it earns enough funds to be self supporting. It pays for its own trophies and prizes.

The summer league, on the other hand, relies on donations from local businesses for the weekly prizes. Last year, local businesses were very supportive and organizers are hoping for continued support this season. This league runs for 10 weeks, starting on Monday, June 24 (games begin at 6:30 p.m.).

A total of 45 participants, ranging in age from 11 to 18, took part during the winter season, with an average of 16 to 24 each night.

Regulation dart games as well as special fun games highlighted the season.

"The kids enjoy it as a social evening as well as a chance to learn the games," said Lynne Kilby, who, along with Maureen Jones, organized the league. "Last summer we had quite a few visiting summer kids drop in and a lot of new friendships sprouted from that."

Standings at the end of the winter league are as follows:

Best overall player - Kristin Woods
Most games started: First - Mary Kilby, Serena Crego and Angie West; second - Jacobi Herringer; third - Nicole Fountain

Most games finished: First - Pam Frey

Most murder games won: First - Robynne Kilby

High double out: First - Kristy Lafferty

Most killer games won: First - Jackie

Fountain

High double in: First - Russell Snoddon

High single baseball: First - Billy Fountain; second - Tom Watson

High three darts: First Trevor Clement; second - Daniel Williams; third - Alan Clement; fourth - Shyanne Watson

High total baseball: First - Chris Snoddon

High total score: First - Kristin Woods; second Lisa Laver

19 HHSS athletes qualify for provincial track and field meet

by Kevin Brezina

The HHSS track and field team had another outstanding day last Thursday at the Eastern Regional OFSAA qualifying meet. This meet, along with six others in different areas of the province, decide who will compete at the all Ontario Championships (OFSAA) this Thursday and Friday in Kitchener. A total of 19 HHSS athletes qualified for OFSAA, an all time high for the school. When Coach Paul Morissette was asked what the team's chances are at OFSAA, he replied "We have a number of athletes coming in (to OFSAA) in either first or second place ... they have a good chance of placing in the top eight." He also added that "several of these athletes are going on in two or more events. Usually most competitors only qualify in one event at Regionals."

HHSS has had an incredible season so far and we hope that it will continue the winning tradition its established, next week at OFSAA. Below are those who have qualified for OFSAA. Due to the size of the meet, event organizers did not provide us with exact times, measurements or places.

Lawn bowlers forced to abandon building: season may be cancelled

It looks like the Minden Lawn Bowling Club will have to disband for this year.

The club can no longer use the building at the Minden fairgrounds that it has been using since 1979. Engineers have declared the building unsafe.

"It's a shock to 70 some odd seniors who have been using the building every day of the week," said Ross Farr, a member of the club. "It's been a good centre for us."

Farr said the club isn't going to just give up. Officials will start immediately to see if funding can be raised to build a new "adult centre." The club will approach MPP Chris Hodgson and MP John O'Reilly to see if any grant money is available.

"I don't think the Lawn Bowling Club would be able to raise enough funds for a new building on its own," Farr said. "We will need support from the Fair Board (which also used the building) and the municipality."

Farr says the timing of the closure of the building is very bad. If it had happened last year, there might have been the possibility of tapping into infrastructure funding. That window of opportunity may no longer exist.

"We should have an adult centre in Minden," Farr said, "not just for the lawn bowlers, but for all adults."

The lawn bowling club asked the municipality if it could install some exhaust fans in the building. That prompted the engineer's study, which resulted in the building being declared unsafe.

HOLE IN ONE!!

Groucho Marx when asked of the toughest shot in golf, answered "I would have to say the hole in one."

Haliburton Highlands Golf Club, the Tournament Committee & all participants congratulate Peter McElwain for his hole in one during the Firefighters' Fundraising Day, May 26 at the 199 yard, eighth hole.

One special teacher

There was never any doubt in their minds, but now that everyone else has taken notice, the student of Helen Newton's grade three class thought they should show their appreciation as well. Mrs. Newton recent received the TV Ontario's award for excellence and innovation in teaching. The students added their note of thanks by presenting the Archie Stouffer Elementary School teacher with a bouquet of flowers.

Godfather Pizza slugger Justin McKelvey connects with a hit during last Tuesday's five-pitch game against Dave's on 35. The Minden Minor Baseball season got under way the week of May 20. The season will run until July 28, the day of the year-end tournament. The league boasts six squirt teams, and four each of five-pitch, junior T-ball, senior T-ball, peewee and atom teams. The age range of players is 4 to 15.

Downtown Minden will be abuzz with activity again this weekend as the community hosts the fourth annual Ontario Championship Timbersport Festival. According to event chairman Ted Anthon, this year's event will be bigger and better.

"We have over 60 competitors registered so far, that is both men and women, and expect more to arrive during the week," Anthon said on Saturday. "This event has become so popular it not only attracts Ontario competitors....we have participants from Manitoba, Quebec, New York, Maine, New Brunswick and Michigan already on the list. There will be some outstanding talent on Minden's Main Street this weekend."

Local competitor Joe Outram will be taking part this year after a three year break from the circuit. He has registered for all events except three. Joe said he has been practising in anticipation of the events and admits to being a little "rusty" after such a long time away from the competition. "I know for sure I'll have fun, and that is the main thing," he commented.

Even Joe's wife will be getting into the action on Saturday. Joe and Cathy will team up in the Jack and Jill cross cut saw competition.

The Outrams will also be featured as part of a television program. CKVR is producing around the Timbersport Festival. The Barrie television crew will be in the area this week taping segments with Joe as he prepares for the competition. They will be back again on Saturday to capture the excitement of the day. The program is scheduled to run June 20 at 9:30 p.m.

As usual, the Main Street will be closed all day Saturday to accommodate the competition. Additional parking has been made available behind the stores on either side of the street and there is easy access through the walkways to the competition venues.

A number of commercial displays will be set up on the Main Street. A portable sawmill demonstrations will also be taking place by the firehall. As a special attraction for the children, pony rides will be offered in the area adjacent to the municipal office.

The Timbersport Festival begins at 9 a.m. and continues throughout the day with the awards ceremony scheduled for 4:30 p.m..

and in villages to the south, where the next stop for an emergency ward is Ross Memorial in Lindsay, 45 minutes to the south.

Helped or hindered by the MOH, the HHHS' non-incorporated precursor, after some difficult years of occasional infighting and spontaneous resignations, the Acting Health Services Board eventually did manage to come to a resolution about where to put the capital spending, and what kind of facilities to build. The in-patient ward is going to Haliburton. Tentatively, Minden is getting facilities for emergency services — built as an addition to the renovated Hyland Crest.

Now, how to keep those facilities open will probably be the next big question. Minden is now operating 24 hours per day in the summer, 12 the rest of the year. The MOH, under a government preaching fiscal restraint, isn't prepared to open up funding to keep Minden's ward open 24 hours year round. The board says it intends to find a way to do so anyway, but isn't quite sure how yet.

Emergency services

Rural hospitals have been changing over the years, and Minden has been no exception. Walking in the doors today, patients are greeted by a very small, sometimes very busy emergency department, backed up by a large, empty ward. The hospital has been reduced to a skeleton crew — a doctor and two nurses — and as far as anyone knows, that's the way it's staying for now, even through the busy summer months.

Charge nurse Denise Northey can be found at the nursing station counter, or in the office, if she's not tending a patient. She's doing two jobs now under the cuts — administrative duties alongside nursing.

Northey has been here 13 years, the last four in management. When she started, the hospital was still under the Red Cross. Most recently, she's been through the severe cuts that reduced the staff to its present level, and the reduction of the facility's operating hours to 12 from 24 for the winter.

There was good and bad, she says, to working as a satellite of the Peterborough hospital.

"I think when St. Joseph's took over in 1985," she says, "it was a good change... I think it really improved us. But I think because of the distance between the two facilities there wasn't really the close relationship that there should have been."

If there's one thing the local board could do to make things a little easier, she says, for the staff and the community, it's to improve communications, and try to provide some stability, and more staff involvement in decision making.

Says Northey, "I would say the last four years have really been a turbulent time for the staff here. That's probably the biggest change. When I first started working here it was just sort of like one big family, and then with job threats, and closure threats, people have had their ups and downs. There have been a lot of nurses that have retired, and there's been a lot of sadness.

The patients, she says, and the community support, have been incredible.

"Access to care," she says, "for the people that live in the whole county, is really important. Equal access... They're really happy to see we've gone to 24 hours. We've seen a lot of people that have come in that were really concerned about it... Mostly the elderly people have been really frightened about what happens if they have a problem during the night. We don't really know what to say to them, truly."

She has only praise for the physicians brought in to staff the hospital.

"They are emergency physicians," she says, "and they have served in a lot of respects as family doctors to these people who haven't been able to access their family doctor, or don't have a family doctor. I think they really need to be commended for the quality of care they've provided. It's been excellent."

Northey has some hope, with reservations, that local control will make a positive difference..

"It seems to me," she says, "that when I've gone to watch some of their meetings that there seems to be two sides — Haliburton versus Minden. I think if they're going to be a board for the whole county, they're going to have to get over that."

Elijah!

Once again the Haliburton Messiah Choir has triumphed. Under the direction of Melissa Stephens and accompanied on the piano by Wayne Cooper, they faced the challenge of a complex oratorio, Mendelssohn's Elijah and were able to capture the beauty of this musical retelling of the Old Testament story. John Miller carried a large part of the work, singing the role of Elijah, while other members of the choir were highlighted in special solo presentations. Hats off to the choir for another successful performance.

Choir member Fred Chapple shares a joke with conductor Melissa Stephens and the audience following the performance of Elijah, May 26, at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden. Chapple represented the choir members, some of whom are seen in the background, as he presented Stephens with a bouquet of flowers in appreciation for her dedication and hard work as music director.

Soloist John Miller, sang the title role of Elijah during the Haliburton Messiah Choir's presentation of Mendelssohn's Oratorio Elijah. The more than 70 voice choir mounted two performances of the intricate and complicated work, performing Saturday at the Haliburton Legion and Sunday evening at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden.

Man dies in trailer fire

by Andrew Milne

A man who died in an early morning fire Sunday, May 26, at Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Reserve, has been identified as Douglas Hofland, of Lefroy, Ontario.

Hofland's trailer, located on Biouvac Lake on the Reserve, burned to the ground during the early morning hours of May 26. Fire crews say Hofland's body was badly burned, and lying on the ground just outside the trailer when they arrived around 2 a.m.

Says Dysart fire chief Miles Maughn, "By the time we got there, the main trailer was burned. We just put out some hot spots and did very limited fire suppression."

Investigating officer Wayne Smith of the Minden OPP says the coroner examined the body last week and found no reason to suspect foul play.

The cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Lefroy's dog was also killed in the blaze.

Student employment assistance offered by federal government

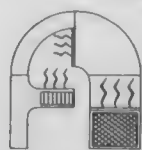

Victoria-Haliburton MP John O'Reilly announced that 116 student jobs have received funding in the riding. The program has assisted in funding job in the private and public sectors as well as for non-profit organizations.

The MP encouraged companies to apply for funding for next year's assistance. "The Student Summer Placement Program is successful because business and the federal government are working together. I encourage employers to apply for the grants now for next year," O'Reilly said. The deadline for this year's program is already passed.

LA BAMBA: The Grade 8 Ensemble performed La Bamba at Archie Stouffer Elementary School's Music Night '96. Members of the Ensemble include: Trevor Cole, Sara Both, Kaija Siirala, Rachel Anderson, Kim McGuire, Ann Raback, John Heffer, Brian Doyle, Micah Smith and Adam Bathe. Music teacher Glen Carter is the conductor.

Music Night '96 at ASES

An estimated 150 people were entertained with a variety of music performed by Grades 7 and 8 students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School last Thursday evening. The occasion was Music Night '96, an annual showcase of the school's musical talents.

Tunes from "The Phantom" were popular among the performers, along with Beethoven and Elton John compositions.

Then variety of performances included selections by the Grades 7 and 8 band, the Grade 8 brass ensemble, the woodwind quintet and numerous duets and solos.

ASES alumni Matt Heffer, Matt Hamilton, Sheamus Donnery and Ben Ripley, also known collectively as The Times Four, were guest performers.

I JUST CAN'T WAIT TO BE KING: Shawna Ray (left) and Kelly Johnston performed a selection from "The Lion King."

SPRING: A flute solo entitled "Spring" was performed by Kaija Siirala, with piano accompaniment by Micah Smith.

Shadow work

The shadows were out again two weeks ago as senior students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School teamed up with various professionals in the community. Times reporter Andrew Milne, seen here in the darkroom, was joined by grade seven students Adina Johnston-Ingram and Stephanie Armstrong for the day. The students followed him on an assignment and helped to develop and print the photographs for that story.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Rhubarb capital ready for another festival

submitted

The Rhubarb Capital of Ontario, Haliburton County's own Eagle Lake, is preparing to once again host the annual celebration. This year the community's ('almost famous', as the press release describes it) Rhubarb Festival will be held on Saturday July 13.

Many of the popular events of previous years are back on the schedule with some new twists added as well. The focus for the festival will move to the Eagle Lake beach, just across the bridge. The beach was recently enlarged, thanks to the efforts of a number of citizens.

On tap for this year's festival are pontoon boat rides on Eagle Lake, a horseshoe pitching tournament (which is so popular that registrations for the event started to come in January), a pancake breakfast, a bicycle decorating contest, a longest rhubarb stalk competition and, of course the rhubarb baking contest. Naturally, the queen of the rhubarb patch, Ruth Still, will be overseeing the baking contest.

Other events include a 'run for the rhubarb' mini-marathon, soapbox derby, silent auction, watermelon seed spitting contest, raffles and games for adults and children. Refreshments will be available throughout the day. The festival concludes with a street dance.

The feature dish of the day will of course be rhubarb pie baked by the ladies of Eagle Lake. Visitors to the festival will be able to sample the product there or take a freshly baked pie home to enjoy later. Also available will be the Eagle Lake special rhubarb sauce over ice cream.

Event publicist Carol Moulton says, "The taste alone is worth the trip to Eagle Lake. Please come, join us and discover what a real 'old fashioned' village festival is all about."

The festival welcomes participants in the baking competition. There are three categories: pies, muffins and desserts. All entries must be delivered to the judging area at the Eagle Lake Foodtown between 8 and 9 a.m. on July 13. Judging will take place in the morning, with the winners announced at 4 p.m.

Dalton & Verna Russell are happy to announce the forthcoming marriage of their son

TSW report

The Haliburton Lakes have declined quickly from last week's level and now average 97.5% Flow reductions are underway on them, aimed at holding the lakes near the normal 96% level for this time of the year.

Along the Kawarthas, only a small surplus remains, with the levels now at about 106% of the total range. This is a drop from 120% recorded on May 21.

Ontonabee River flow is still about 200 cubic metres per second. Reductions were expected to be made later in the week to reduce the flow to 120 cubic metres per second. This will enable re-opening of navigation on the canal as of May 30. Summer flows get down as low as 17 metres per second during extremely dry conditions. (report issued May 28, 1996)

New columnist welcomed

First of all, I would like to introduce myself. I am a new resident, along with my wife Lorraine. I worked for CBC Radio and was a reporter for many years. In Ontario Hydro, I was radio and TV editor for the last 22 years. I feel privileged to have been asked to report Haliburton Crest activities to the community through the Senior League column.

The residents enjoyed a Victoria Day celebration on May 24th, complete with a supper barbecue, entertainment with the Grandfathers and, at dark, there was a nice display of fireworks. Our thanks to the volunteers and staff who helped. Also to the Lions Club of Minden and the Resident's Council for the donation of fireworks.

Unfortunately, due to an illness in the family, Pastor Bob Power and his hymn sing group could not come on Monday. Instead we went on a bus trip to Furnace Falls. On the way back, we stopped at Kawartha Dairy for some delicious ice cream. We all enjoyed it.

On Wednesday we had a discussion about ice cream sundaes and how they originated in Europe and England. My parents knew. They both came from England and were served ice cream by their folks.

There are all kinds of flavours, maple, cherry, walnut, chocolate sauce, marshmallow, whipped cream with a cherry on top. These are only some of the delicious tasty dishes served to our party.

Now ice cream is made with electricity and fast, but some think that the old way of making it is still the best. Lovely Linda served these delicious treats, along with the help of the wonderful ladies. This was a most worthwhile day. May it all come again.

On Thursday, Minden Lioness Club brought a lovely lunch and helped the folks celebrating birthdays in May: Lil Martin, Lucille Clark, Mary Eaton, Alice Rivers, Bea Tustin, May Mann, Harold Sawyer, Jean Taylor, Corrine Bonneville and Bea Britain.

The Coopers were here to entertain for Happy Hour on Friday afternoon and a good time was had by all, dancing and socializing.

Lots of interesting things coming up next month. June is the month when seniors take the Crown.

One of our faithful readers, Verna Russell of Gelert, is sort of happy/sad, because her husband, Dalton, a musician, is on the road again for a nostalgic tour in Toronto and London with Matt Kenny and his Orchestra.

The organizers of the Haliburton/Muskoka Seniors Games announce the results of the 5 pin bowling. Gold was won by Muskoka with a score of 275. Now, normally, the gold medalists would go on to compete for ACTIVEFEST in Richmond Hill on August 26-28, against all Ontario districts but they cancelled, so the Silver Medalists go instead. Haliburton won the silver with a score of 238 fought hard by Ken Thompson, Bill and Jean Stead, Ben and Helen Dentinger. Honourable mention to the Bronze winners, also from Haliburton, who scored 209. They were Doug, Jack and Lorna Burtch, Eric Stearns and Marg Schepers.

Sincere sympathy to the family and friends of Phoebe Paull and Edna (Eddie) Sedgwick who passed away recently.

Summer card party event winners from last week were:

* St. Paul's Friendship Club lone euchre hand award to Jessie Preston; high score to Joan MacKenzie and Betty Hardy; low score to Gladys Wruth. Meet Mondays for euchre at 1:30 p.m. They were very happy to welcome back Ellie and Marie who spent their winter in the lanes.

* Club 35 lone euchre hand award to Olive Daniels; high score to Gala Stamp and Wally Harpur; special awards to Betty Harper and Eleanor Bunker. May Bradbury won the 50-50 draw. Everyone welcome Mondays at 7:30 p.m. Partners not required. The next wheels-to-meals dinner there, 9 km north of Carnarvon, is noon on Tuesday, June 4.

* Newcomer, Nick Lehoczky, came first in contract bridge played at the Stanhope Library. Second was Stella McMillan and third was June Branning. A big slam was bid and made by Nick and June. Meet Tuesdays at 1 p.m. All are welcome. Partners not required.

* May Hicks, who usually plays euchre Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. in Lochlin (but it's now on hold until September 10), had a surprise visit from her niece on Mothers Day.

* Stanhope Fire Fighters Hall had 46 guests from Gravenhurst for a pot luck supper prior to their bid euchre party. Wins by the top ladies scored 333, 292 and 281 while the men scored 288, 285 and 278. There were 12 moonshots. There was also a 50-50 draw plus a whole raft of door prizes. They meet every Wednesday at 7 p.m.

* Noble Motel euchre award for high score went to Harry Stuart with second high to Marie Surgenor. There was a 3-way tie for most lone hands by Pat and Marcel Rousselle and Ken Young. Everybody is welcome Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m.

Health Corner

(More healthy back tips)

-Standing and Walking: Try to point toes straight ahead when walking; put most of your weight on your heels; hold your chest forward and elevate the front of the pelvis as if walking up an incline. Stand as if you are trying to touch the ceiling with the top of your head, eyes straight ahead. All the elements of good posture will flow from these simple maneuvers.

- Sleeping: Sleep on a firm mattress. With acute back pain, lie on your back with a pillow under your knees and head. Often times, rolling a towel lengthwise and fastening it around your waist can increase the comfort of your back while sleeping.

That's seven helpful hints for a healthy back, taken from the Medical Journal, that I have given you. Even the act of sneezing has a correct way: stand upright and bend backwards as you cough or sneeze. Look after your back - you want it to last at least 80 years.
